Aesop's fable The fox and the grapes

A fox was walking and spotted a bunch of grapes hanging from over a lofty branch.

“Just the thing to quench my thirst,” he thought.

Taking a few steps back, the fox jumped and just missed the hanging grapes. Again the fox took a few paces back and tried to reach them, but still failed.

Finally, giving up, the fox turned up his nose and said, “They’re probably sour anyway” and proceeded to walk away.

Color the fox and the grapes.

Do not despise and belittle that which is beyond your reach.

Aesop's fable The deer and the vine

A deer who was being pursued by hunters hid under a grapevine. When the hunters had passed by, she turned her head and began to eat the leaves of the vine. One of the hunters turned and when he saw the deer, he hurled his javelin and struck her.

As she was dying, the deer groaned to herself, 'It serves me right, since I injured the vine that saved me!'

Color the deer and the vine.

Do not mistreat
those who help you.

Aesop's fable The farmer and his sons

A dying father called his sons to his bedside in order to give counsel. He said: "There is a great treasure hidden in one of the vineyards." Shortly after that he died. The sons, upon his death, took up implements and carefully dug over every part of the land. They found no material treasure, but the vines yielded an extraordinary crop because of the care.

Hard work is always rewarded.

Color the farmers and the vineyard.

Color red the one grape and green the other.

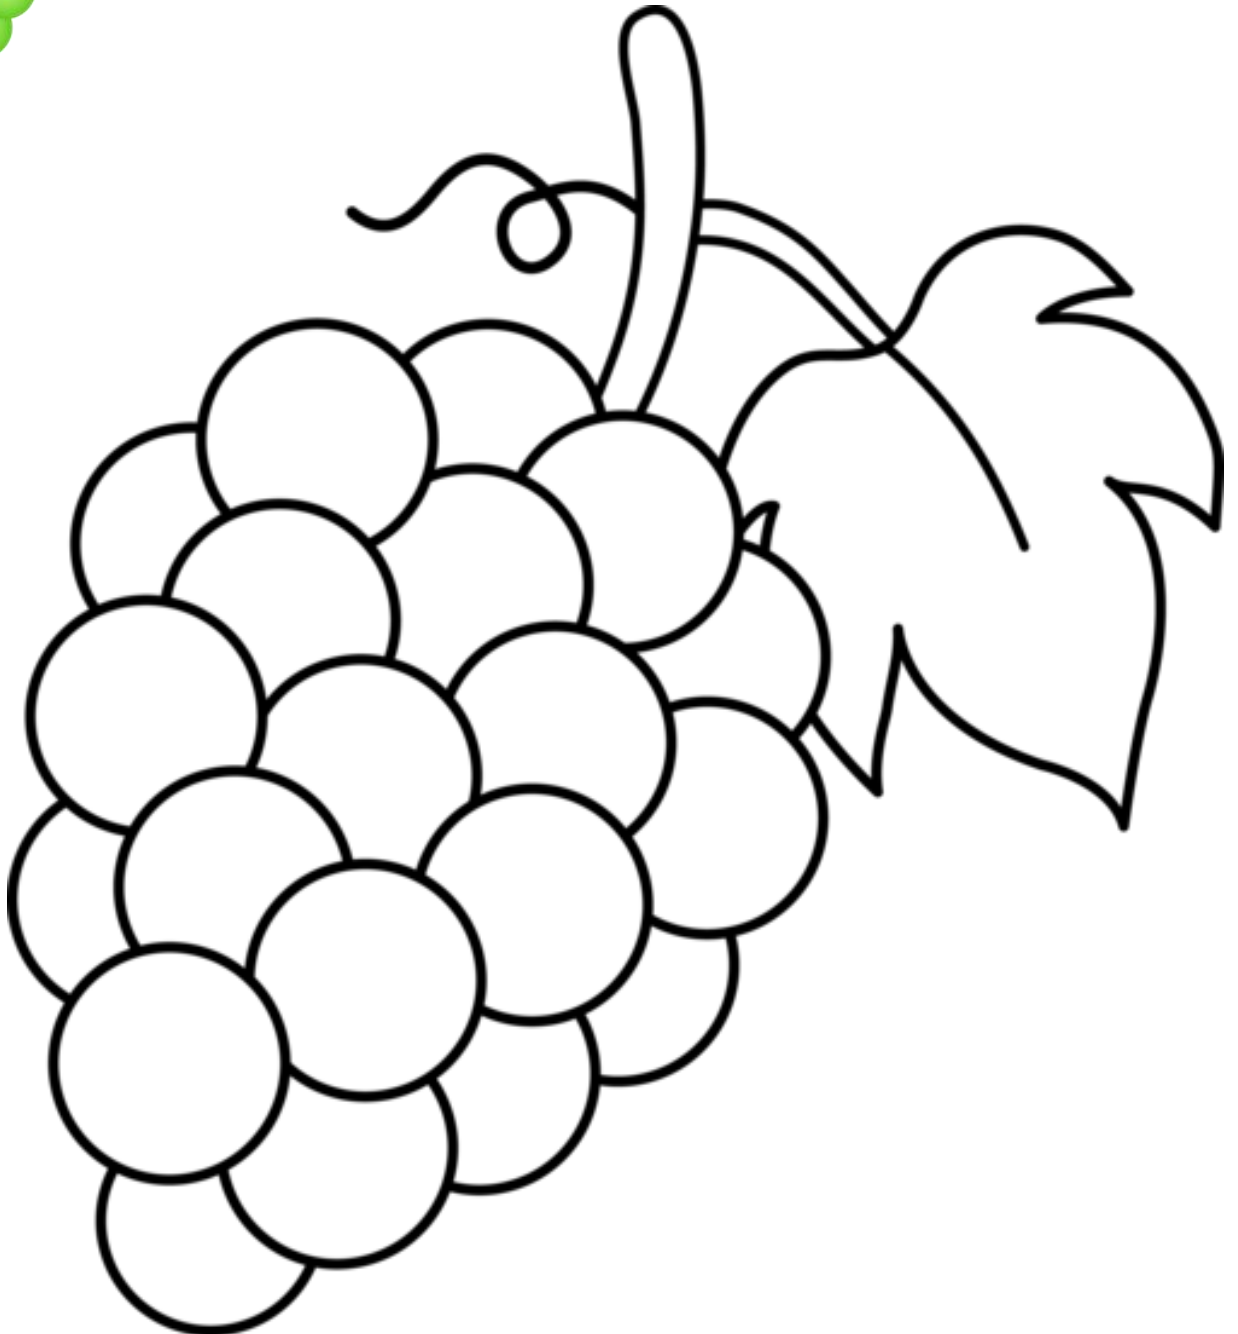

Color red the grapes in the basket.
